WILLIAMSBURG, VA., Oct. 28 .- Special.-General Rosser, as was expected, arrived here about noon to-day, coming by private conveyance from Yorktown. He was driven at once to the residence of Dr. Richard A. Wise. After remaining there a short time, he was excerted down town by the Doctor and Mr. George E. Richardson, the sheriff of the county. A meeting was held in the court-house, which was addressed by General Rosser.

The General began his speech by de-

The General began his speech by delivering an essay upon the theory of government and its founders and a gulogy on Jefferson. Following in his way the cause of public events down to the present day, he said this government was not now what its originators intended, but had drifted far away from true Jeffersonian Democracy. The speaker then discussed Mr. Cleveland, saying that "he had voted for him, but was sorry for it."

Referring to the present canvass, the epeaker said he was opposed to Colonel O'Ferrall because he was a Cleveland man, and also because he had not carried out the promises made to the people. He said that Colonel O'Ferrall, if elected Governor, would resign the office into the hands of Mr. Kent if he could be elected to the position of United States Senator. The General closed by an appeal to the crowd to forsake their former political allegiance and vote for the Populists.

The crowd was good-natured. There was little or no enthusiasm during the delivery of the speech.

At the conclusion of General Rosser's At the conclusion of General Rosser's address, loud calls were made for Dr. Wise, chairman of the Republican party of James City county. The Doctor arose and said he did not propose to make a speech or discuss political issues; but said: "You, as Republicans, are now in the condition of a man overboard, and in danger of drowning, and this man comes and offers you ap our. I advise ones and offers you an oar, I advise you not to reject it, because it is not a steamer, but grab this oar, which may eustain you until help arrives." He showed first that the present campaign was one of almost entirely State issues, and then drifted into a comparison, bit by bit, of the platforms of the Democratic and Populist parties. He showthat the people of this Commonwealth had nothing to look for a greet form the nothing to look for or expect from the Populists, and challenged the criticism of the government of the State of Virginia for the last eight years. After an able ilscussion of State issues, he drifted into the great national questions, and handled them in a masterly manner.

He discussed Federal elections, silver, tariff and pensions in such a manner as evidenced an accurate knowledge of his subjects, and concluded with a glowing tribute to Grover Cleveland and the State Democratic ticket.

At the conclusion of Mr. Goode's speech, At the conclusion of Mr. Goode's speech, Leutenant-Governor J. Hoge Tyler was called upon by the audience, but at first did not respond. They kept on calling for him and he, at last, came to the front of the platform, but could hardly speak. His throat is in a terrible condition, and he was compelled several times to discontinue his remarks. He hopes to be able to go into harness again the latter part of next week, but is doubtful if he will be able to do so.

YO TAMBIEN'S GOOD RUN

DEFEATS LAMPLIGHTER AND MAKES A NEW RECORD.

She Easily Ran Away From the Duke of Guttenburg's Crack Horse_The Other Races...Time, 2:01 1-4.

CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 28.-Eight thousand people went out to Hawthorne to day and saw Yo Tambien win in a gallog from Lamplighter. It was not the big match race that the crowd expected to see, but a special event in which each party put a side bet of $1,000 and the Association added $1,500. The race has nothing to do with the big race which will come off on the first good day and track-Monday if possible. The conditions of the race call for a good day and track. The race was programmed for to-day but Eugene Leigh, who owns Clifford, declined to start him because neither track nor day could be called good. There was no room for an argument on Leigh's position, for the track was heavy and the day cold with a raw wind. Walbaum was anxious to race Lamplighter, and Chris Smith eager to start Yo Tambien. Mr. Cofrigan did not want to disappe ni the crowd, so he offered to make a spe-cial race for Yo Tambien and Lamplighter cial race for 10 Tambien and Lamplighter at a mile and an eighth. The arrange-ments were quickly made, for each owner thought he had a good thing, and was anxious to bet his money. When it was time for the race, Mr. Walbaum and a party of friends led the applause as Fred Taral cantered by in the red and white colors of the Duke of Guttenburg. Yo Tambien was a little Guttenburg. Yo Tambien was a little slow in making her appearance, but when she cantered up the stretch she was cheered by a storm of applause, which showed where the sympathy of the crowd There was only a moment of delay was. There was only a moment of delay at the post, then they broke away and it was all over. It was a race that is easily described. Yo Tamblen simply ran away from Lamplighter. Passing the stand, she had two lengths the best of it. Around the first turn Yo Tambien kept right along, and when straightened out in the back stretch was running so easily Dogrett turned in his saidlie to easily Doggett turned in his saddle to see what become of Lamplighter. There was no change in the positions until the lower turn, when Taral tried to move up with Lamplighter, but at the same time Doggett also let out a link in the mare and she went away still further. Taral did not persevere long. He raw that unless Yo Tambien fell down she would win, so he gave it up and stopped urging Lamplighter. Doggett looked back, and seeing that he had a mortgage on the race, took a wrap on the mare, and the finish was a slow one, pulling up less than one hundred yards past the post. Time, 2:01%.

There were some big bets on the race, one of the largest being $1,000 to $1,200 on Lamplighter, made by C. Walter with Leo Mayer. Joe Ullman laid even money against Lamplighter and took in a lot of money.

This order directs that all the distilleries in this State be com-pelled to pay tax on three gallons of whiskey to the bushel of corn capacity. It is stated by an officer of the associa-tion that this will shut down all the small distilleries in North Carolina. These now pay on two and a half gallons per-bushel, but it is claimed that they make only a little over two gallons, and that bushel, but it is claimed that they make only a little over two gallons, and that only steam distilleries can make as much as three gallons. The secretary says the meeting of the association at Charlotte next month will be well attended.

THE WRIGHT HOMICIDE, Victim of the Mine Hole Gap Tragedy Re-whipped them. They visited the house of another negro where the woman said she left the money and searched it, but failed to find anything. Last night while the negroes were absent from home their celved Twenty-Four Wounds house was set on fire by some one and destroyed with all of its contents. The negroes seem to be trying to keep the ASHEVILLE, N. C., Oct. 28,-Special.

WELDON, N. C., Oct. 28,-Special.-Larry Walker, a colored employe, was terribly injured here by falling from the top of a freight train while on duty. His injuries are serious, and perhaps may prove fatal. Edgecomb county will ask Governor Carr to order a special term of the Su-perior Court for that county. The farmers of this county are now turning their attention to making home supplies. Tweive hundred gallons of syrup have been made in a territory not more than half a mile square.

S. B. Snell, an ex-postmaster , committed suicide at Macky's Ferry, near Plymouth, by taking laudanum. He was arrested some months ago, charged with appropriating the government money to his own use, while postmaster. He was to have appeared before the Fed. eral Court at Elizabeth City, and the mat-ter so prayed upon his mind that he drank one ounce of laudanum. Death The fair next week promises to be very
